PERSONAL PROFILE:

Prof. Thomashausen grew up in Portugal, studied in France, Germany and the UK and then graduated in law in Germany where he is fully admitted as an attorney. He is a senior legal academic of 35 years standing in South Africa with an established international profile and publications in Europe, China and Africa. His work covers a wide range of legal studies. He is considered a specialist and expert in his main focus areas of constitutional law, transitional constitutional law, constitutionalism, and peacekeeping. He is also internationally acclaimed for his contributions in international law, contemporary law in Africa, natural resources law, law of international commercial transactions, transnational corporate and private international law and anti-corruption law. He has published widely in all these fields, in English, German, French, Portuguese, Turkish and Mandarin.

Professor Thomashausen combined his academic life with many managerial responsibilities:

- From 1974 to 1981 he built up and managed in Northern Germany the adult education and political engagement work of Fortbildungswerk für Studenten und Schüler – FWS, administering over one million Deutsche Mark in project and donor funding.
- From 1983 to 1986 he acted as negotiator and drafter for the Lesotho Highlands Water Treaty on behalf of the South African Department of Water Affairs (1983 to 1986).
- 1984 to 1991 he acted as international law consultant to the then largest firm of attorneys in South Africa, Webber Wentzel; whilst serving as Director of Bischoff International chaired by the late Paul H. Bischoff, then President of the Southern African German Chamber of Commerce and Industry.
- From 1986 to 1991 he was the regional representative for Southern Africa of Herbert Quandt Foundation, a Foundation of BMW AG, responsible for a program known as “Development Law Strategies”, organizing and financially administering 26 strategic workshops and conferences over 5 years, in anticipation of the political change in South Africa in 1992.
- From 1990 until 1994 he assisted the negotiation of and drafted most of the General Peace Accord for Mozambique, and then served as Special Advisor to the Special Representative of the Secretary General of the United Nations Operation in Mozambique – UNOMOZ.
- Based on his UNOMOZ experience, he consulted for the Angolan Presidents Office from 1998 until 2004 on conflict resolution in that country.
- From 1997 to 1998 he incorporated and developed the ID-SOFT group of companies, a software development group dedicated to data compression, data encryption and application software for high-density barcodes in support of the South African card drivers licence project.
- In 2006 he advised the Angolan government on its naval rehabilitation program and conducted research on the legal framework for an integrated Southern Atlantic Maritime Security system.
- Since 2004 he acts as a member of the Senior Council of the Southern African German Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

- Since 2016 he has been acting as Subject Matter Expert (SME) in Government Performance Assessment to the Federal Entities in the United Arab Emirates as well as to the State of Ajman Excellence Award Programme (AJEP) and the State of Abu Dhabi Award for Excellence in Government Performance (ADAEP).

Professor Thomashausen's academic career culminated in his nomination and admission as a member for Academia Europaea in 2012. He is currently ranked by one of the World leading academic publishing websites, ACADEMIA.EDU as amongst the top 2% globally cited academic authors (see <https://unisouthafr.academia.edu/AndreThomashausen>). From January 2008 until August 2014 he combined his position of chair of Unisa's Centre of Foreign and Comparative Law (which he holds since 1984) with that of chair of the Department of Public, Constitutional and International Law – PCI-Law. He transformed PCI-Law into a flagship department at Unisa with a fully racially integrated and representative lecturing staff of 36, including 4 full professors and 2 Associate Professors, comprising 64% staff from designated and formerly disadvantaged population groups, serving over 20.000 undergraduate plus just over 300 post graduate (dissertation) student enrolments (masters and PhD levels). Professor Thomashausen is also responsible since 1984 for South Africa's most widely read law journal internationally, the Comparative and International Law Journal of Southern Africa - CILSA (which is an international accredited IBSS journal).

The 26 Development Law Strategies workshops, seminars and conferences, during the period from 1987 to 1991, brought together a total of 172 academic speakers and 1 373 participants. Of these, 76 speakers (44%) and 570 participants (41,5%) were Black.

The Conference on Constitutional Issues in 1990 saw the return to South Africa for the first time after decades in exile, on invitation of Professor Thomashausen, of three senior ANC members: Advocate N. Masimola (from London), Dr T. Pekane (from Brussels), and Professor K. Asmal (from Dublin), who addressed the Conference on the topics “Managing the Constitutional Transition”, “Chieftainship in a Period of Transition in South Africa”, and “Decentralisation in a Unitary State”, respectively.

The Conference on “Conflicts and Negotiations” in 1991 presented five renowned foreign speakers, and was addressed by Professor Kadar Asmal and Mr Jacob Zuma on behalf of the ANC. This was at a time when neither negotiations, nor indemnities for ANC members were yet a certainty.

The Development Law Strategies Project was the result of a co-operation agreement negotiated and concluded in 1986 by Professor Thomashausen with the Herbert Quandt Foundation of BMW Germany. It created a continuous series of forums for free debate on the inevitable transformation of South Africa. The Development Law Strategies debates and proceedings brought many personalities who were to become key players in subsequent years, together for the first time. It also identified many of the major reform issues of the new South Africa.

- 1992-1995 UNOMOZ : Implementation of the Peace Accord: Special Advisor to the Special Representative of the Secretary General of the United Nations in Mozambique. Professor Thomashausen was appointed Special Legal Adviser to Mr Aldo Ajello, the Head of the United Nations Mission in Mozambique and Special Representative of the Secretary General of the UN. In a testimonial, Mr Ajello recorded the following observation:
-His performance largely exceeded the terms of reference established in his job description. His professional skill, longstanding relations with RENAMO, as well as his strong commitment to the cause of peace, democracy and national reconciliation, made Professor Thomashausen highly instrumental to the success of the peace- keeping mission in Mozambique. He is a very competent legal adviser and was therefore an effective advocate for the cause of peace with RENAMO.*
- His role was always constructive, proved to be particularly essential during a crisis which occurred on the eve of the elections when the President of RENAMO, Afonso Dhlakama, took the decision to withdraw from the elections. On that occasion, the contribution of Professor Thomashausen in convincing the leader of RENAMO to return to the electoral process was of primary importance. He was able to keep the communication channel open between me and President Dhlakama, and he negotiated with the President and his team to work out reasonable conditions for RENAMO to continue participating in the elections.*
- The final document which provided the solution to the crisis, was drafted by Professor Thomashausen and was approved by the international Members of the Supervision and Monitoring Commission, with very few minor changes.*
- 1988-1992 Negotiation and Drafting of the 1994 General Peace Accord for Mozambique, as consultant appointed by the Government of Kenya.
- 1987-1992 Coordinator and Organiser of Constitutional Transition Project for South Africa entitled Development Law Strategies, funded by BMW - Herbert Quandt Foundation.
- 1984 to 1987 Negotiator for the Draft Treaty and Protocols for the Lesotho Highlands Water Project, as counsel for the South African Dep of Water Affairs, with Prof. Ian Brownlie as counterpart on behalf of the Kingdom of Lesotho
- 1986 Negotiation and Drafting of the 1986 Namibia Transitional Constitution, instructed by Namibia Multi-Party Conference.

- 2002 to 2005 Expert witness in commercial insolvency litigation concerning Chinese, German and Lesotho textile industry joint ventures in the matter of Liquidator of Hako Harry Cohn KG v Chang, Landgericht Hamburg.
- 2002 Cape of Good Hope Provincial Division Appeal Court judgement in the case of SA Sogem NV v Banro Resource Corporation et al, Case No. A105/2000 (judgment of 11 June 2002, at 26), Van Zyl J remarked as follows:
- Thomashausen was described by Griesel J as “obviously an eminent and well-qualified expert” and, indeed, “by far the most impressive” of the three legal experts called to testify before him. ... This was clearly no exaggeration, as may be gleaned from the record of his testimony and even from the most cursory survey of the summary of his evidence.*
- The matter set an internationally important precedent for the recovery of mining proceeds from confiscated or nationalised foreign mines.

- 1999 In the Angolan criminal case of Angolan State v Van der Eecken and Others, life sentences for alleged acts of sedition and terrorism (for having transported supplies to areas controlled by the insurgent movement Unita), Professor Thomashausen obtained an unconditional acquittal in the Supreme Court of Angola.
- 1997 Consultancy relating to preparation and successful holding of the first democratic elections in Liberia in July 1997 and formulation of the Liberian Mining Rehabilitation program LIBERESCO.
- 1996 On special leave from the University of South Africa – Unisa, Professor Thomashausen in 1996 acted as project co-ordinator for a South African tender for the introduction of machine readable driver licence and identification cards, acting for UNISYS (UK), ID-Kort (Sweden) and ID-Soft (South Africa).
- 1991 In National Oil Co. of Zimbabwe (Private) Ltd and Others v. Nicholas Collwyn Sturge [1991] 2 Lloyd's Rep. 281 [Q.B. (Com.Ct.)] the High Court in London relied chiefly on Professor Thomashausen's expert evidence, refuting a very large insurance claim, relating to damages that had occurred as a result of the civil war in Mozambique from 1977 to 1992.
- 1991 In Märtens v. Märtens 1991 (4) SA 287 (W), the South African Supreme Court and Appellate Division relied on evidence by Professor Thomashausen to overturn custody rulings that had been upheld before by the highest German court, the Bundesgerichtshof. The South African judgment which was upheld by the Appeal Court was subsequently recognized and enforced in Germany. The judgment set an important precedent by significantly lowering the age of minors who may be heard on their own views in custody matters.
- 1980 to 1982 Produced a total of 16 expert legal opinions on matters of private international and foreign law at the Institut für Internationales Recht (Germany).
- 1980 Expert opinion on Spanish, German and European Law of negotiable instruments, "Pagaré Case" OLG Köln and Bundesgerichtshof.
